Provo. Aug. 26.—Mrs. Hans Nelson of Provo Bench has received information, through the department of state, that her son, Martin Nelson, died Oct. 26 last in South Africa. The young man, who was 24 years of age, was a trooper in the South African Light Horse. The manner of his death is not stated. A balance due him from the British government at the time of his death was sent by the United States consul in Cape Town to the department of state and has been forwarded to Mrs. Nelson.

Mrs. Nelson says she has not heard from her son since last summer and she feared he had met with death or some serious accident. About a year ago she received a letter from Martin, written on his saddle while in the field. He seemed to enjoy the life of a soldier, enlisting as a rough rider in the late war with Spain. Twenty-four hours after his discharge he had an opportunity to go to South Africa, which he took advantage of, and after arriving there he entered the service of the British government as a trooper.
